PREFACE

Women and girls face numerous vulnerabilities, making gender budgeting essential for achieving gender equality and empowerment. This approach to budgeting leverages fiscal policy and administration to advance gender equality and support the development of girls and women. Gender budgeting also serves as a tool for gender mainstreaming, applying a gender perspective to the entire policy process. It involves gender-sensitive formulation, resource allocation, and continuous monitoring to address the vulnerabilities that women face throughout their life cycle.

Gender budgeting is crucial for addressing the specific vulnerabilities that women and girls face in various aspects of life. This approach to budgeting stimulates fiscal policy and administration to advocate gender equality, supporting the progress of women and girls. In other words, gender budgeting is process and tool used to integrate a gender perspective into fiscal policies and budgetary decisions. It involves gender-sensitive formulation, identifying gender specific needs, resource allocation, enhancing transparency and accountability, continuous monitoring to ensures the efforts as well as the effectiveness to promote gender equality.

The principle of gender equality is integral to the Indian Constitution, encompassing the Preamble, Fundamental Rights, Fundamental Duties, and Directive Principles of State Policy, Equality of Opportunity, and Non-Discrimination. It is not only recognised by the Indian Constitution, but also it has been widely covered under the comprehensive framework of rights and protections to ensuring its implementation.

A strategic approach known as Gender Responsive Budgeting (GRB) ensures that public finances contribute to gender equality and women's empowerment by integrating gender considerations into macro-level policies. GRB is a tool that has significant relevance in translating the gender commitments of the government into budgetary commitments. It ensures a fair distribution of resources between genders and supports equal opportunities for all. Importantly, the GRB does not prepare a separate budget for women and girls, but it aids the government in effectively streamlining the public expenditure in a gender-responsive way.

The Gender Budget Statement (GBS) in this context serves as a vital tool in promoting and monitoring the efforts on gender equality. It enables the way of progress towards gender-related goals and targets outlined in the United Nations' Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The GBS plays a crucial role in translating the government's gender commitments into effective budgetary allocations. It consolidates expenditure and allocation across sectors aimed at girls and women, thereby catalyzing sustainable and inclusive growth.

In the Financial Year 2005-06, the Government of India introduced the GBS in the Union Budget to integrate the GRB into its fiscal planning. The GBS is divided into two parts: Part A allocates funds exclusively for gender-specific schemes which are 100% earmarked for women, while Part B includes pro-women schemes where at least 30% of the allocation benefits women.

Subsequently, the Government of Odisha launched its first GBS in 2012-13, emphasizing gender-specific schemes with a 100% budgetary allocation for the welfare of girls and women. Over time, provisions for girls and women were incorporated into various composite schemes and programs under a separate category if their targeted budgetary allocation exceeded 30% of the scheme amount.

The Government of Odisha has demonstrated a strong commitment to addressing the challenges faced by girls and women in the state, including poverty, inequality, and violence. Here are key aspects of their approach. Odisha State Policy for Girl children and Women framed in the year 2014 serves as a guiding framework to promote the rights and entitlements of girls and women. It emphasizes the importance of equal access to resources and opportunities that enable them to live with dignity. The state government envisions that the Gender Budget Statement of 2024-25 will help in identifying, prioritizing, and addressing gender concerns by formulating and implementing future gender policies, provisions and focus area programmes. It will also serve useful for UN agencies, civil societies, researchers, and other stakeholders in analysing schemes and programmes related to women in the State. The development of the GBS is not an end in itself but a starting point for a more gender-transformative governance and administration.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

Overall well-being and empowerment of women are fundamental to achieving Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) Number 5 i.e. Gender Equality. These are integral to all dimensions of inclusive and sustainable development. The Goal 5 aims specifically to eliminate all forms of discrimination and violence against women and girls, ensuring equal opportunities for leadership and participation in all spheres of life. Despite progress in many areas, gender inequality persists globally. Women and girls continue to face barriers to education, employment, healthcare, and political participation. Intersectional marginality, where gender intersects with other forms of discrimination such as race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, and disability, further exacerbates these inequalities. It's important to recognize that achieving gender equality is not just a goal in itself but a catalyst for achieving all the other SDGs. When women are empowered and given equal opportunities, societies benefit from their contributions to economic growth, social development, and environmental sustainability.

In governance, Gender Budgeting is a way forward to promote gender equality through the budgeting process, by bringing into focus, various government policies that bolster gender equality. It involves integrating a gender perspective into the budgetary process, ensuring that government policies and expenditures promote gender equality and empower women. Gender budgeting makes it possible for the government to translate their gender commitments to budgetary obligations and to utilize the budget as a tool to influence the lives of girls and women. Moreover, gender budgeting transforms the budget from a technical document into a powerful tool for promoting gender equality and women's empowerment, ensuring that financial resources are effectively utilized to address gender disparities and create opportunities for all individuals to fully participate in and benefit from development processes.

The trajectory of the international action for gender equality can be traced back to the “Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women” adopted in 1979 by the United Nations General Assembly. The CEDAW is often referred to as the International Bill of Rights for Women. It is a landmark international treaty that aims to achieve gender equality and eliminate discrimination against women in all spheres of life. Successive to this was the “Beijing Declaration and Platform” for Action adopted by the UN in 1995 to promulgate a set of principles concerning the equality of men and women. It represents a significant global commitment to evolving gender equality and women's empowerment, setting out a comprehensive agenda with strategic objectives and actions in critical areas of concern, aiming to eliminate obstacles to women's full participation in all spheres of public and private life.

Gender responsive budgeting (GRB) has indeed gained significant traction in the 21st century as a strategic tool for advancing gender equality within public finance management. It has been regarded as an innovative fiscal tool in the drive towards gender equality. More than 80 countries have indeed adopted gender budgeting as part of their public finance management strategies. This adoption reflects a growing recognition of the importance of integrating gender considerations into budgetary processes to achieve gender equality and promote women's empowerment.

The Government of India took a significant step towards promoting gender equality by institutionalizing the Gender Budget for the first time in 2005-06 as part of the Union Budget. Thereafter, 16 states and 2 UTs adopted Gender Responsive Budgeting into their fiscal mechanisms. Odisha introduced its first Gender Budget Statement in the FY 2012-13.

While the primary goal of the exercise in Gender Budget is to achieve tangible outcomes for women and girls, its benefits extend beyond their well-being, enhancing societal welfare as a whole. When strategically implemented, gender responsive fiscal policy serves as a powerful tool to allocate resources more equitably, promoting gender equality and fostering overall social and economic development.

THE GENDER BUDGET STATEMENT

The process of budgeting explicitly regulates not only the raising and utilization of public funds, but also determines beneficiaries and amount of benefit gained. It is also a critical factor in creating social change at a scale through governance structures. Owing to various factors, gender discrimination remains a pervasive issue that affects women at both the household and community levels, limiting their social and economic independence in various ways. The confinement of women to domestic chores remains a significant barrier to their social and economic independence, impacting their ability to fully participate in and contribute to society. In this context, Gender-responsive budgeting (GRB) is indeed a crucial tool for addressing the behavioural aspects and systemic inequalities that contribute to the confinement of women to domestic chores and hinder their social and economic independence.

GRB is a budgetary process to promote gender equality and women's empowerment through fiscal policies. It is all the more critical in India considering evidence from extant literature, reasoning that public spending needs better targeting to benefit marginalised socio-economic groups from different regions and curb existing gender differential in order to access provisioning of various public services. Australia was the first country to have undertaken the gender-responsive budgeting initiative in 1984 followed by South Africa and Philippines in 1995. Thereafter, many countries have undertaken this initiative at the national and subnational levels of government. The significance of GRB in the Indian context has evolved with the special reference of empowerment of women in the 2000-01 Union Budget. In this dialogue, the urgent need for improving the access of women to national resources, and ensuring their rights were placed in the mainstream of economic development. Since then, widespread efforts have been made by scholars and institutions to critically analyse the issues relating to gender differentials in access to various public goods and services in order to achieve gender mainstreaming through budgetary targets.

GRB does not aim for a separate budget for women, rather it aids the government in effectively streamlining the public expenditure in a gender responsive way. The Gender Budget Statement (GBS) is a key document that can identify the resources to be raised and the expenditure to be made to eliminate gender disparities. Gender budgeting can be carried out through specifically targeted schemes and programmes for girls and women, and through earmarked allocations for women empowerment in universal schemes and programmes.

Government of Odisha had included only 100 per cent gender specific programmes and schemes in the GBS until FY 2015-16. From FY 2016-17 onwards, the GBS was divided into two parts with one part containing only those schemes and programmes which are 100 per cent gender specific and the other part focusing on gender sensitive schemes and programmes with more than 30 per cent but less than 100 per cent provisions for women and girls within a given scheme budget. In this regard, Government of Odisha sees the GBS as a critical strategy in ensuring a paradigm shift towards gender mainstreaming across the state machinery.

The department of Mission Shakti has also created a roadmap for channelizing economic activities of WSHGs into entrepreneurial ventures. Livelihood mapping, access to financial services, access to training, marketing, and handling support, and facilitation of partnerships with other state departments are few of the support mechanisms that Mission Shakti rendered to its women force during this time. SHG microenterprise promotion is a major step taken by the state to address the loss of livelihood and other socio-economic challenges faced by women during the pandemic.

In times of crises, girls and young women run a higher risk of having health issues owing to lack of nutrition and other related requirements for growth. They also run a disproportionately high risk of being subjected to abuse in various forms and settings. Therefore, creating space for gender-positive measure and budgeting for them becomes a necessity. Access to safety nets against health, livelihood and other socio-economic challenges for women are also aspects that need to be prioritized. Thus, Gender Responsive Budgeting can be an effective tool for the re-establishment of gender mainstreaming in all government initiatives throughout the state as we repair and rebuild from the debilitating impacts of the pandemic.

CHAPTER II

GENDER BUDGETING IN ODISHA

The rationale for gender budgeting arises from recognition of the fact that national budgets impact men and women differently through the pattern of resource allocation. Women constitute 48% of India's population, but they lag behind men on many social indicators like health, education, economic opportunities, etc. At the state level, the Gender Budget Statement (GBS) helps the Government in highlighting the fiscal allocations made for women and girls under the state's financial plan. The Government of Odisha having introduced the GBS as part of their annual budgeting process in the FY 2012-13, has always been committed to advancing gender equality, and ensuring that political will and leadership are channelled towards achieving it.

Ensuring sustained policy commitment through budgetary measures is crucial for achieving gender mainstreaming. To effectively address gender-based disadvantages, rigorous fiscal analysis is essential, and a major obstacle to policy commitment can be overcome by compiling sex-disaggregated fiscal data. Recognizing this, the state government is prioritizing the development of a comprehensive disaggregated demographic database. This initiative aims to enable efficient and equitable sectoral fiscal allocations that address the diverse and specific needs of girls and women.

The Odisha State Policy for Girls and Women, formulated by the Department of Women & Child Development and adopted in 2014, focuses on improving the status of girls and women in Odisha in areas including survival; health and nutrition; education; livelihood; asset ownership and decision making, participation and political representation; safety, security and protection; and girls and women with special needs through a life cycle approach. The policy aims to achieve its goals with a mission to create an enabling environment for girls and women that promotes equal opportunities, eliminates discrimination, ensures holistic development and empowerment, and enhances capacities.

The Government of Odisha took a significant step towards women empowerment by establishing the Department of Mission Shakti, a dedicated department focused on creating and supporting Women Self-Help Groups (SHGs). This initiative is designed to address the economic and livelihood challenges faced by women across the state by enhancing their capacities. Additionally, the integration of WSHG networks into the service delivery of various state welfare mechanisms through a convergence model has been a noteworthy advancement. This approach has facilitated women-led implementation efforts of schemes at the grassroots level, promoting greater participation and inclusion in the governance machinery.

Government of Odisha has carefully reassessed and integrated in its planning process, various socio-economic indicators such as poverty, health outcomes, child marriage, child mortality rates, maternal mortality ratio, child trafficking and so forth. GRB has been strengthened in congruity with the Odisha State Policy for Women and Girls which envisages this change by providing capacity building trainings to various line departments and key stakeholders on GRB. A Gender Budget Cell has also been constituted within several departments for overseeing their respective gender budgeting and mainstreaming - related interventions. Furthermore, in an effort to make the budgeting process more transparent and accountable, the Government of Odisha has moved a step further and made the budgetary process digital. Despite such positive measures, the gender gap that still exists in terms of various development indicators needs targeted and coordinated interventions from all relevant stakeholders. The Gender Budgeting exercise is thus, a step in this direction to structurally address such gender inequalities.

STAKEHOLDERS OF GENDER BUDGETING

The Gender Budgeting exercise and the Gender Budget statement in Odisha involves and will have an impact on the following stakeholders:

- The women and girls of Odisha, constituting about 49.4% of the population.
- Department of Women and Child Development (the nodal agency at the State level)
- Department of Finance
- Department of Planning & Convergence
- Respective Line Departments of the Govt. of Odisha
- UN Agencies and civil societies
- Academia, researchers and other knowledge management groups
- Elected legislative representatives
- Media
- Business and Corporate Sector

SCOPE OF GENDER BUDGET STATEMENT

The Gender Budget Statement provides critical information on the fiscal allocation of the state from a gender perspective by reviewing the schemes and programmes of various departments from a gender lens. As a tool that promotes gender mainstreaming, it helps in identifying the opportunities and scope for further intervention by the government, as it highlights the actual allocation for the past year, revised figures for the present year, and the proposed figures for the upcoming year, thus enables them to find gaps in implementation. Furthermore, the document will specifically aid in:

1. Identifying the government schemes and programmes from across departments, which help in promoting the development of women.
2. Analysing the percentage of Administrative and Programme Expenditure of various schemes and programmes included in the statement. This can further help in developing targeted fiscal and implementation strategies for gender mainstreaming.
3. Examining the budgetary allocation for gender in relation to Development Expenditure of the state as well as Gross State Domestic Product.
4. Linking gender budget with outcome framework by each department.
5. Analysing the state's progress in aligning its budgetary priorities with the State Policy for Women and Girls, for better targeting in further implementation strategies.

METHODOLOGY USED

The Odisha Government recognizes that each social sector bears implications for various other sectors, and thus, inter-departmental coordination is fundamentally crucial for prudent fiscal management by reducing the magnitude of fiscal profligacy. Bearing this in mind, the Gender Budget Statement of Odisha has been prepared by analysing the 44 demands for grants of the various departments under the government for expenditure earmarked for women and girls. Further, the schemes and programmes thus identified are categorized into gender specific and gender sensitive while mapping the expenditure details including Administrative Expenditure and Programme Expenditure.

The schemes and programmes are also further bifurcated in terms of the source of funding under the following heads:

- a. State Sector Schemes
- b. Central Sector Schemes
- c. Centrally Sponsored Schemes
- d. Establishment Operation and Management (EOM) Expenditure
- e. Disaster Relief Funds

In line with the Union Gender Budget Statement, Odisha also has segregated the gender budget into the following two parts:

Further, a detailed mapping exercise has been carried out where all schemes and programmes under the Gender Specific Budget (Part A) have been mapped under the following focus areas as mentioned in the Odisha State Policy for Women and Girls:

1. Survival
2. Health and nutrition
3. Education
4. Livelihood
5. Asset ownership and decision making, participation and political representation
6. Safety, security and protection; and
7. Girls and women with special needs through a life cycle approach.

Post mapping, the Gender Specific Budget (Part A) Statement has also been analysed on the basis of the aforementioned 7 focus areas. This allows for the picturization of the state's efforts towards gender equality and inclusion in the context of the Odisha State Policy for Women and Girls to better impact the gender mainstreaming process.

The timeframe for the analysis of this GBS includes the Actual Expenditure for the FY 2022-23, the Revised Estimates for the FY 2023-24 and the Budget Estimates for the FY 2024-25.

PROCESS OF GENDER BUDGETING IN ODISHA

CHAPTER III

GENDER BUDGET AT A GLANCE

The budget document outlines the government's approach to incorporating gender equality into its financial planning and policies. This effort demonstrates the government's commitment to gender equality by allocating specific budgetary resources toward women-centric initiatives and programs. The section highlights key budgetary allocations aimed at women across various indicators and variables, providing a detailed account of these allocations. The findings include gender-specific and sensitive budget figures for various departments, department-wise schemes and programs, and the proportion of these figures within the total gender budget. The detailed account of budgetary allocations for women and girls is structured into three sections:

- i. Cumulative Gender Budget
- ii. PART A: Gender Specific (100%) Analysis, and
- iii. PART B: Gender Sensitive (>30%) Analysis.

CUMULATIVE GENDER BUDGET

A detailed analysis of the cumulative allocation to both gender-specific and sensitive programmes across sectors, departments, and expenditure types is presented in this part. Table 3.1 shows the budgetary allocation for the Gender Budget under Part A, Part B, and the total for three financial years. For 2024-25 BE, a total of Rs. 7562291.75 Lakh have been allocated, out of which the gender-specific components account for Rs. 1787841.23 Lakh and the gender-sensitive component accounts for Rs. 5774450.52 Lakh. This forms a significant part of the total state budget outlay.

Table 3.1 Total Allocation of Gender Budget under Part A and Part B
(Rs. In Lakh)

Years	Gender-Specific (100%)	Gender Sensitive (>30%)	Total
2022-23 (Actual)	471136.71	4588821.73	5059958.44
2023-24 (RE)	659447.37	5753390.84	6412838.21
2024-25 (BE)	1787841.23	5774450.52	7562291.75

It is evident from Figure 3.1 that, there is an increasing trend in the allocation under Gender Budget. It is seen that the total budget outlay under Gender Budget for 2024-25 BE, having Rs 7562291.75 Lakh, shows an increase of 18.24 % from the 2023-24 BE of Rs. 6183063.74 Lakh.

The allocations under Gender-Specific and Sensitive components have been increasing over the years.

PART A: GENDER-SPECIFIC BUDGET

Part A constitutes the allocations made to the schemes and programmes which are gender-specific. Here 100% allocation is made towards the welfare and development of women and girls of Odisha. In this regard, it is to be noted from earlier tables that a total allocation of Rs 1787841.23 Lakh has been made for gender-specific components under 2024-25 BE. These are spread across 15 departments and 102 schemes and programmes.

Figure 3.2 shows the distribution of schemes and programmes across 15 departments of the state according to 2024-25 BE. The Women and Child Development department has the maximum number of schemes contributing to the gender-specific budget at 47 schemes, followed by the Health and Family Welfare Department at 17 schemes and the Department of Mission Shakti at nine schemes.

Further, Figure 3.3 shows the distribution of Schemes and Programmes across Types and Sources of Funds. As per the estimates, State Sector Schemes (SSS) accounts for the maximum number of schemes and programmes with 49 schemes, followed by Centrally Sponsored Schemes (CSS) with 36 scheme and the Establishment, Operations, and Management (EOM) with 14 schemes. There are two schemes under Central Sector Schemes (CS) and one scheme under the State Disaster Relief Fund (SDRF).

Further, the mapping of the total allocation of 100% gender-specific schemes across types of expenditure and the funding sources is presented in Table 3.3. As per 2024-25 BE, Programme Expenditure (PE) contributes the highest amount with Rs. 1764165.38 Lakh, which includes Central Sector Schemes (CS), Centrally Sponsored Schemes (CSS), and State Sector Schemes (SSS). The Establishment, Operation, and Maintenance (EOM), which falls under Administrative Expenditure (AE) of the state, has allocated Rs 23675.85 Lakh for the Gender Specific budget under 2024-25 BE.

Figure 3.5 illustrates the share of total allocation of gender-specific schemes across types of expenditure as per 2024-25 BE. The Programme Expenditure has the lion's share of the total allocation at 99%, which is the combined share of CS, CSS, and SSS that contributes to the programme expenditure. The Administrative Expenditure is 1% of the total allocation under the gender-specific budget.

Figure 3.6 represents the distribution of the total allocation of gender-specific schemes across the source of funds as per the budget estimates for 2022-23. State Sector Schemes (SSS) account for the highest share of the source of funds at 73.74 %, followed by Centrally Sponsored Schemes (CSS) at 24.24 % and Establishment, Operations, and Management (EOM) expenditure at 1.32 %.

An analysis that looks at the allocation for the Gender Specific Budget (Part A) from the perspective of the focus areas mentioned in the Odisha State Policy for Women and Girls has also been performed. In this regard, Figure 3.6 shows the distribution of schemes and programmes across the focus areas of the Odisha State Policy for Women and Girls. The maximum number of schemes contribute to the Livelihood focus area with 24 schemes, followed by the Safety, Security, and Protection focus areas with 20 schemes. Nineteen schemes contribute to Health and Nutrition focus as well as to the area of Livelihood. 17 contribute to Asset Ownership, Decision Making, Participation, and Political Representation focus area. While 14 schemes and programmes focus on education, 8 schemes on Survival and finally 5 schemes on girls and women with special needs through lifecycle approach.

Figure 3.6: Distribution of Schemes and Programmes Across the Focus Areas of Odisha State Policy for Women and Girls for 2023-24 BE

Furthermore, Figure 3.7 shows the share of gender-specific allocations across schemes and programmes that contribute to the focus areas under the Odisha State Policy for Women and Girls. Here, the maximum amount of allocations at 64.34 .9% contributes to Livelihood, followed by Health and Nutrition with 20.98 %, thus forming the lion's share of the allocations between the two focus areas.

PART B: GENDER SENSITIVE BUDGET

Part B constitutes the allocations made to the schemes and programmes which are gender sensitive. In these schemes and programmes, more than 30% but less than 100% of the beneficiaries are women and girls, thus enabling between 31% to 91% of the allocations under these to contribute to the welfare and development of the women and girls of Odisha. Accordingly, the total allocation of Rs 5774450.52 Lakh for gender-sensitive components is divided across 35 departments, and 454 schemes and programmes as per 2024-25 BE. There has been a 4 % increase in the number of schemes contributing to the gender-sensitive budget in 2024-25 BE as compared to 2023-24 BE.

Figure 3.8 shows the top 10 departments based on the distribution of Schemes and Programmes for 2024-25 BE. It is found that the Department of Women and Child Development (WCD) and the Department of Health and Family Welfare (H&FW) and the Scheduled Tribe and Scheduled Caste Development, Minorities & Backward Classes Welfare Department are at top three position so far as the number of scheme and programmes are concerned. These departments have 53, 42 and 36 schemes and programmes in 2024-25 BE. Other major departments are SS&EPD, PR&DW, HT&H, Works, HE and S&ME, (see Figure 3.8).
